

Los Angeles Times

HOME

SATURDAY, MARCH 13, 2010 = LATIMES.COM/HOME

FINDS

Functional art

The collection is billed as home theater furniture, but designer Karim Rashid's new cabinets look good whether or not there's a flat-panel TV perched on top. The pieces, created for the Phoenix-based firm OmniPlus, include the fun and functional Prism. The trapezoidal piece measures 50 inches wide on top, 59 inches on the bottom and 15.3 inches deep — large enough for a 50-inch flat screen or 150 pounds of books. It's available in three gloss colors. Price: $499.95. For more information or a peek at the other new designs, go to www.omniplusfurniture.com. — LISA BOONE

Photographs by MARK PETERMAN OmniPlus